

FRANK B. FINDLEY KILLS HIMSELF AFTER QUARREL NEAR TRENT, PA.

Wanted Milton Burg, Where He Visited Mrs. Mildred Whipkey to Kill Him, Offering Burg His Pistol.

HE HAD THREATENED BURG

The latter testified before coroner Moore, of Trent, who held the inquest—Relatives of Dead Man Think There May Have Been Foul Play.

Mystery surrounds the shooting of Frank B. Findley, near Trent, Somerset county, Monday evening. Findley was found dead on a road about 1 1/2 miles from Trent, his hands and feet crossed and a bullet hole through his heart. Death had evidently been instantaneous. Although neighbors heard the shot fired, caught the team in which he had been driving not more than 150 yards from the scene of the shooting, and reached the body but a few minutes after the tragedy occurred, the body was found lying in a position that indicated someone might have arranged it in that manner. The shooting occurred on a road which would be the way through the woods and view of the nearest house was obscured.
Families named Fyfe and Burg lived within a short distance from the scene of the shooting and it was from one of these that a man caught the runaway team and then located the body.

A revolver was found nearby, but Findley's relatives say he never, to their knowledge, carried a gun. His Howard watch was missing and in its place was a cheaper timepiece. This might be explained, however, by the fact that his own watch could have been left with a jeweler to be repaired.
Findley was an extra conductor on the Connelville division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Up to the past two weeks he had been traveling on No. 275, leaving Connelville at 10 o'clock and arriving at Trent at 11 o'clock. Although the railroad men had paid only a few days ago, Findley had only $1.20 on him when found.

At the coroner's inquest held before Justice of the Peace Moore, of Trent, a sensational story of the events preceding the shooting of Findley was related by Milton Burg, father of Mrs. Mildred Whipkey, to whom it is alleged Findley had been paying attention for several years and on whose account Whipkey had become estranged from her husband. Mrs.
Whipkey had left her husband, Findley, according to the story told by Burg at the coroner's inquest, drove directly from Rockwood to the home of Burg in Middle Creek township, a short distance from Trent. That was on Monday evening.

Burg repeated the attentions Findley was paying to his daughter, Mrs.
Whipkey, and upbraided him for calling on her. Mrs. Whipkey, since her husband left her, has been making her home with her father. Her two children are also there. Whipkey has been working at Harrowsville, Somerset county. He was not at Trent or in the vicinity on Monday, and it is stated did not know that Findley was there. Following Burg's accusations against Findley, the latter became angry and drew a revolver.
He threatened to kill Burg. Mrs.
Whipkey entered the room where the men were quarreling at this point and got between them, preventing a physical encounter. Findley then, according to the testimony of both Burg and Mrs. Whipkey, threatened to shoot Mrs. Whipkey. She ran into another room, and getting her two children locked herself in the cellar. Findley, Burg said, became cooler in a little while and in his remorse wanted Burg to take the pistol he had and shoot him. He pleaded with Burg to kill him, Burg testified, and when the latter would not take the revolver offered him Findley started off over the fields toward the house of W. J. Fyfe. In a few minutes a shot was heard.
Running to an upstairs room in the house, Burg and Mrs. Whipkey testified they could see the body of Findley lying on the road. They then attended Squire Moore. Fyfe and others were attracted by the shot and the body was removed to Trent, after a jury had been empaneled and viewed it.

The testimony of Burg and Mrs.
Whipkey was clear and positive that Findley was in a bad humor at the Burg home and that he became greatly agitated when Burg accused him of being too fond of his attentions to Mrs. Whipkey. All the threats to shoot were made on this point, the said, and he was apparently stricken by remorse following the quarrel. He tendered the pistol to Burg several times as they said and asked him to shoot him. The verdict of the coroner's jury was suicide.

Findley lived in Connelville. He had been in the habit of making long trips alone Laurel Hill creek, in the vicinity of Trent. It was at Noah Heminger's home at Trent that Find-

LOVING LETTERS READ; FATHER ATTACKS SEE.

Mildred Bridges Forced to Contradict Her Testimony When Burning Thoughts Penned the "Apostle" are Read in Court.

United Press Telegram.

CHICAGO, June 21.—An attempted physical attack upon Evelyn Arthur See of the Absolute Life cult, by Stephen Bridges, father of Mildred Bridges, and Mildred's own confession that she had addressed her teacher as a husband, featured today's testimony of the See trial. Much of the reading from the "Book of Truth" and the confession placed upon them by the State is unendurable. Mildred Bridges, the 17 year old High Priestess of the cult, had been on the stand all morning and the State's attorneys had needed her in an effort to shake her faith in the revelation and make her tell of her life in the temple of the Junior Commonwealth.

Her wealthy father, who had begged her for hours to return to him, was heart broken. When court adjourned for five minutes, See entered the witness room where Mildred Bridges and Mona Rees, another High Priestess, were sitting. He spoke to them and tried to comfort them. Bridges clenched his fist and rushed toward him. Frank J. Hogan, Bridges' attorney, threw himself upon his elbow and prevented an attack, while

See fled back into the court room.
Later Mildred was forced to contradict herself repeatedly in her efforts to shield See. She declared she had never addressed her father as "husband" or by any other endearing terms. It was brought out that she, Mona and See wrote letters to each other while all were living at the Junior Commonwealth. One of these letters, which she admitted she wrote, was read.

"I feel now that I have entered into the true spirit of wifehood. I feel that I am on a purer basis than ever before. From this day on I take up my life to enter the spirit of wifehood and to be your true wife Evelyn, I do love you and my hope is that I may fill the personal life. Was I fulfill your life? No matter where you may be you must always remember that there is a little girl at home who always love you, your little girl wife, Evelyn I do love you."

The girl completely collapsed when the letter was read. The State's attorneys had hoped to break her down and make her tell all of the rites of the Junior Commonwealth.

Was It Theft
or Just a Gift?

Special to The Courier.
MT. PLEASANT, June 21.—As the result of a very complicated money affair, Mr. and Mrs. Ware, colored, arrested in the borough jail, Clarence Ridenour was left out by promising to appear any time he was called and Bob Trent, colored, is not to be found in town.

Victor Rizer, white, claims that Mrs.
Ida Ware knocked him down in an alley night before last and took $15 from him, while Mrs. Ware stated last night that Rizer followed her and insisted on her taking a dollar and that instead of giving her a dollar he gave her ten cents.

Mrs. Ida Ware's husband took twenty to a local hotel and purchased a quart of gin. When they heard that the constable were after them Trent left town with the change from the bar. Mrs. Ware emphatically stated last night that Rizer told her if she could make good $10 he would withdraw the charge.

Trying to Secure
Release of Korlath

Special to The Courier.
SOMERSET, June 21.—Attorneys for M. J. Korlath, the Seap Level foreign banker charged with the embe-zlement of $20,000 funds, are endeavoring to secure his release on bail but it is not expected it can be accomplished before the return of Judge Kneese and District Attorney Miller next week.

Assistant District Attorney W. Carroll insists that $10,000 bail be furnished and Korlath's attorneys think this is too high.

It is reported that while on the way from Somerset to Philadelphia, he was expelled, Korlath attempted to commit suicide by severing an artery in his wrist. It is also said that Korlath has near relatives in New York who are suffering from a nervous collapse as a result of the charges against him.
It is reported they are being closely watched to prevent suicidal attempts on their part.

ripped the roof from the coop. It took the chicks off and left no clue as to his identity.

Reagan is willing to give $5 to any one who will furnish information leading to the apprehension of the culprit.
The chickens were a healthy lot and Reagan had hopes of having a supply of eggs next winter when hen fruit was coming in price.

EXONERATIONS ARE ALLOWED BY COUNCIL.

Lopped Off His 1907
Duplicate.

CHURCHES ALSO EXEMPTED

From Paying Their Share of Street Paving—Bids Will Be Asked for the Erection of a Fire House at the July Meeting.

Council took the first steps towards the building of a new fire house last evening at the regular mid-month session when a resolution was passed affecting that bids be asked for the construction of the building. Chairman C. M. Stoner of the Public Safety Committee wanted the bids to be opened at the next regular meeting, to busy things along, but President James B.
Millard decided the mid-month July meeting would be plenty of time for them. Mr. Millard said he wanted contractors to have plenty of time to submit estimates for the work.

The matter of finances relative to the proposed fire house was not touched upon. Councilmen Berg and Mc-Cormick brought the matter up. Coun-cilmans Brennan asked what was the use of crossing the bridge before it is reached and then President Millard called the vote. Berg and McCormick voted against the resolution. They say they want a new fire house, but prefer first to know where the money is coming from.

William Cooney, who has been serving under appointment on the paid fire department, was elected a regular paid fireman.

Council was into convening and for the first time in many months there was difficulty securing a quorum. At 8:26 sufficient members had arrived for the transaction of business. Only the Second, Third and Sixth Wards presented their full representation.
None of the Fifth Ward Councilmen was on hand when President Millard called the session to order. The Seventh Ward had one member there, C.
M. Stoner, the other wards being represented by proxy, except the Third Ward a complete delegation.

Among the spectators were School Directors C. B. Bales and A. W.
Hart, Henry Wolfe, State Commissioner J. W. Stouffer, D. T. Hefman, C. M. Miller and others. Borough Solicitor J. Kirk Renne was on hand prepared to rule on legal questions that might arise. Borough Engineer J. B. Hogg, being out of town, was not present at the session.

The following Councilmen were present: President James B. Millard, H. C. Hays, S. J. Brant, Frank Friel, T. J. Brennan, S. P. Fias, Larimer Stillwagon, B. L. Berg, William Jecormick, S. B. Decker, Solomon Lepky, C. W. Hudcock, John T. Hotel and C. M. Stoner.

Following the reading of the minutes, which occupied 15 minutes, President Millard gave visitors an opportunity to address Council.

A W. Hart addressed Council in regard to the question of a grade on Green Street, West Side, at the school house. "There are about 200 yards of dirt to be moved," Mr. Hart said if the street would be graded it would afford a splendid thoroughfare from Ninth street to the mud pike. The matter was referred to the Street Committee.

John Sullivan spoke regarding the opening of Edna street. That matter was also referred to the Street Committee.

Chairman H. C. Hays of the Finance Committee reported the following recommendations:

That the Borough Solicitor be authorized to proceed at once to collect street paving accounts from the following R. J. Welch, $36.77, J. M. Re-bore, Long $30.57, J. M. Reid, $10.49.

"That all claims against the actual frontage of church properties, being legally uncollectable, be exonerated also that a claim of $427.45 against the Carnegie Free Library be exonerated."

Accounts expurged which showed not to have been carried on the books were those of the Fayette Lumber Company, $2.25; H. L. Carpenter, $2.25; L. F. Tuth, $2.25 and Oliver Dunst, $2. These accounts carried on credits, expurged were as follows: Simon Hutsell, $3.40; Anthony Sands, $4.50, Domenick Choppy, $6.

B. L. Berg asked if all churches were included. He said he understood at least one would be willing to pay its interest, was deducted. Mr.
McCormick asked to be enlightened on the law. President Millard asked Renne for an explanation, but H. C.

WEDDED AND JAILED

The Fate of Foreign Woman at Yukon, Westmoreland County.

To be lodged in jail just a few hours after she had been married in the court house, was the unusual turn of affairs for Mrs. Katherina Rombocka, of Yukon, Westmoreland county, on Monday afternoon.

The marriage ceremony between herself and John Rombocka had barely been completed when Indors Harwat, of Yukon, charged the woman with a serious offense before Justice of the Peace James B. Small. ## Mills Resuming; Outlook is Better

Further evidence that real basic improvement in trade has at last set in was offered yesterday in orders issued by the Carnegie Steel Company to start the mill mills at Youngstown, O. in operation, after many months of suspension. The fact that railroads are demanding rails on old and new orders is regarded as the most encouraging development of the month. At the same time, the republic iron & steel company has ordered general resumption at its Brown-Honell plant at Youngstown, while all but two mills of the Mahoning valley plant of the same company have been ordered into active operation.

Increased activity in the Pittsburgh district further demonstrated yesterday by the announcement from the Clinton iron and steel company that in the expectation of big iron business next fall, it will at once begin improvements at the Clinton furnace on the South Side, which will result in a daily production of 500 tons of pig iron from that stack by fall. Inquiries for more than $1,200,000 worth of pig iron in the hands of furnaces came this week, and some good orders were placed. The benefit of this increased business already has started plans for resuming operations in several merchant furnaces throughout the central part of Pennsylvania. Coke sales and shipments at Pittsburgh have been increasing as a result of the better blast furnace outlook.

May Report on a Site-This Evening

The Presbyterian church will hold a congregational meeting this evening at which time it is possible the committee appointed to secure a new site may be ready to report. The committee had not decided on the site selected up to noon today but was expected to reach a decision during the afternoon.

It was at first thought the matter of a site would not be brought before the meeting this evening but as the committee is required to reach a decision not later than the end of this week, the members will probably agree upon their report before this evening. The Bishop and Rondine site near Carnegie Library is said to be the site most favored by the congregation.

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the chain of life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

ITCHING, BLEEDING ECZEMA WAS CURED

By Cuticura After 5 Years of Suffering Beyond Description—Thought Death was Near—Calls Cure Wonderful.

"No tongue can tell how I suffered for five years with itching and bleeding eczema until I was cured by the Cuticura Remedies, and I am so grateful I want the world to know, for what helped me will help others. My body and face were covered with sores. One day it would seem to be cured, and then it would break out again with the most terrible pain and itching. I have been sick several times, but never in my life did I experience such awful suffering as with this eczema. I had made up my mind that death was near at hand, and I longed for that time when I would be at rest. I had tried many different doctors and medicines without success, and my mother brought me the Cuticura Remedies, thinking that I try them. I began to feel better after the first bath with Cuticura Soap, and one application of Cuticura Ointment. I continued with the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and have taken four bottles of Cuticura Remedies, and consider myself well. This was nine years ago and I have had no return of the trouble since. Any person having any doubt about this wonderful cure by the Cuticura Remedies can write to my address, Mrs. Alice Egan, 63 1st Road, Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 16, 1909."

ILLEGAL CLAIMS
FOR STREET PAVING.

There was no occasion for any Town Councilman voting against the exor-cism of some of the Connelville churches from charges for street paving in front of their properties and there was no reason why the objecting members should not have been collected upon the law regulating such matters.

The Act of June 1, 1901, which is designated as a general act for the collection of taxes as well as municipal claims, and which has been referred to in these columns in connection with the collection of taxes on seated and unseated lands, provides, Section 6, as follows:

Public property used for public purposes shall not be subject to tax claims or municipal claims, and shall be exempt from general taxation and assessments for street paving, but they must pay like other property for their sidewalks and sewer connections, and the removal of nuisances. The same rule applies to "public property used for public purposes," like the Carnegie library, and "institutions of purely public charity," like the College State hospital. The exemption also applies to "places of burial not held or used for private or corporate profit," but this will not apply to one of our cemeteries and possibly not to the other. It would have applied to the old burial grounds of the borough.

In making these "exonerations," therefore, the Town Council only operated claims which could not be lawfully collected, and which should never have been carried on the books of the borough as assets.

UNWORTHY BEGGARS.
A PUBLIC IMPOSITION.
It might be well for the Town Council to regulate the rights of crippled street beggars in order to avoid personal encounters and serious disturbances of the public peace.

Each industrious applicant for the public charity might be assigned a regular beat in order that he may "beat" the public regularly and peaceably, but if this is not deemed desirable it is evident that the suggestion from time to time made in these columns, that all such doubtful characters be turned over to the police for investigation, and better be followed.
If the impetuous individual is found to be worthy, he should be properly helped from the public funds or through the Charity Committee of the Chamber of Commerce; if, on the other hand, he is proven to be an industrious, unworthy of assistance, he should be sentenced to cut the grass and get out, and to stop not on the order of his going.

It is the duty of municipal government to protect the public against unworthy beggars, as well as to succor the starving and alleviate the sufferings of the ill and distressed.

SCHOOL TEACHERS
CANT FLIRT WITH THE JOB.
The High School teacher who resigned his position a few days ago cannot take any other position in any public school in Pennsylvania without the consent of the School Board of Connelville. The School Code, Section 1209, says:

Any principal or teacher who, unless released by the Board of School Directors, refuses or neglects to teach throughout the term for which he was engaged, except when prevented by personal illness, shall be disqualified from teaching in any public school in this Commonwealth during the term of said contract.

While there may be some question raised as to the meaning of the term "contract," the evident intent of the code is to break up the practice on the part of some teachers of putting in blanket applications to numerous School Boards with the intention of George V.—Is my crown on straight, Sammy?

accepting that which pays them best or is most desirable in other respects; and in this view of the matter it is not unreasonable to hold that the application by the teacher and his election by the board constitute a verbal contract quite as good as a written one inasmuch as the applicant is presumed to know the terms and conditions attached to the position he seeks.

On the other hand, the teacher has some rights. He is entitled to prompt action on his application so that he may have an opportunity to apply elsewhere if he is not chosen. This plea cannot be urged in the Connelville case, however.

While it is not intended to work injustice to teachers, this provision of the code is only fair to the school districts. The directors after having selected their teaching corps should not be compelled by donations from its ranks to hunt up new teachers, especially at the eleventh hour when good teachers are difficult to find.

Hereafter school teachers are not permitted to flirt with their jobs.
The removal of the Board of Health, that the terminal sewer emptying into the river be extended to low water mark and unsewered there, should resolve the prompt acquisition and compliance of the Town Council. It is in a matter which will prove a serious menace to the public health during the low stage of water in the summer season.

The Connelville postal savings bank has already been offered big business by a customer who has extensively been depositing in its bank.

The telephone often gives tips, but few persons ever tip the telephone.

The Young is getting on its high June weather is perfect once more.

The campaign has opened in Scottish, but it is not a political campaign.

The Town Council is going to ac-certain what the proposed new fire department headquarters will cost. There can be no harm in that. Its construction will probably depend entirely upon its cost.

The School Board mixed up with Town Council last night.

The Town Council has decided that the poles must pay as well as the people.

This is the longest day in the year.

The sun gets up early these mornings, but the other sun lies about just as late as ever.

The glass brick works have risen from their ashes and are rushing to fill accumulated orders. The glass brick has come to stay and the industry will prove to be one of our most important ones in time.

Inventory Month—Great Clearance Sale

Starting June 1st, The Union Supply Company, will inaugurate in every department of every one of their 63 stores, a great clearance sale. June is our semi-annual inventory month. It is the time we select for reducing stock; moving out all surplus. It is the time everybody in the coke region takes advantage of the reduced prices, and it is the time everybody making purchases saves money. The inventory sale is going to offer this season special runs on shoes and made up raiment for men, women, boys and girls.

CLEARANCE SALE INVENTORY BARGAINS

We believe the shoe bargains we are going to offer this month, will be the most sensational ever seen in the coke region. If there is one department in our stores that is entirely too heavily loaded with stock, it is the shoe department. We are going to reduce them and take this means of doing it. They are general lines. The daintiest styles that the market produces for the women; the most comfortable lasts that can be made for the men; good strong knock-a-bouts for the boys; tasty nice styles for the girls and children. The Oxfords are numerous; prices are going to be cut so low that everybody can buy a pair reasonably.

ENTHUSIASM IS MANIFESTED

Building Project Is Launched Formally at Big Banquet of Citizens.
Robert Skemp and J. D. Yoho the Speakers Who Started the Ball Rolling.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, June 21.—With a gift of $5,000 from Martin S. Loucks the campaign for a new Y. M. C. A. building for Scottdale was opened with enthusiasm here at the close of a banquet last evening. Mr. Loucks offered that sum if $15,000 more be raised by popular subscription. The banquet is on today and several subscriptions and pledges made this morning indicate that within the near future Scottdale will have a fully equipped modern building, that will bring the Y. M. C. A. up to the progressive standard of the town.
It was during the banquet given to a crowd of about 200 men that the plan was broached in a formal manner. The assemblage comprised the leading men, both old and young of town, a most cosmopolitan gathering that took in nearly every walk of life in the town. It is on this line that funds will be collected from the widest field, the most good to the most people being the aim.

The banquet was served in Reid hall by ladies of Scottdale. Its quality and elegance bespoke the interest that the women of Scottdale have in the project. The menu was one that the ladies were roundly congratulated upon, and appreciation was manifested on every hand. The tables were bright with roses, snowy linen and silver, and stretching through the long room presented a handsome sight.

Rev. Mr. Miller offered the blessing and during the banquet there was music by Dorkoff's orchestra stationed in an adjoining room and the crowd sang several songs. At the close of the banquet Dr. J. P. Strickler, Vice President of the association, who was presenting instead of Robert Skemp, was introduced as the first speaker.
Mr. Skemp told of his coming to Scottdale 21 years ago and how he had been one of the first interests in the formation of a Y. M. C. A. here a few years later, and while he was not the one who started it here, he has taken a strong interest in the association ever since. He testified among men that the association has always been of great value to the town. He had seen with the value of character, and how today probably more than ever before the value of good character stands as the need of the world, and what is demanded of men. This character, he insisted, cannot be developed without the proper surroundings. He referred to Scottdale as being a clean town, and said that while there is an old saying that cleanliness is next to godliness, the truth of it is that cleanliness is a part of godliness. There is nothing good that is not religious and there is nothing truly religious that has not good in it. The Y. M. C. A. stands for the good, for the better of the town, and the association has come to the point where its bridges must be burned behind it, and then the association movement now be a success or it will be crushed out for a time, because at present the facilities are wholly inadequate for the work demanded of the association. He said he felt that the association is entering a light in which they will be victorious. He continued that the plan is one in which every individual can afford to put in some time and money for their own sake and for the sake of others. He then called attention to the fact that every good, large building in a town adds that much to the value of a town as a whole.

"We are getting a wonderfully strong start," said he "for our good friend Martin S. Loucks has offered to give us $5,000 if we will raise $15,000 ourselves." There was great applause following this statement, which came as a surprise.
Chairman Strickler arose and said that under such encouragement he was doubly happy to introduce J. D.
Yoho, general manager of the P. & L.
E. railroad, who would speak on the value of the Y. M. C. A. to railroad men in particular. Mr. Yoho had come out from Pittsburgh in his special car which came up over the Summit transfer, and he gave a rousing speech.

In part Mr. Yoho said that when he was first approached by Mr. Skemp to come to Scottdale and make a Y.
M. C. A. speech he was disposed to decline as he felt that he had about exhausted his Y. M. C. A. knowledge in an address delivered before the State association at Conneltsville sometime since, but Mr. Skemp was so insistent that finally he had consented and being here was glad for it seemed like coming back home to visit his locality.

He went on that if his address should have left too much "railroad" that he desired his hearers to remember that he was here in the capacity of a railroad man, and that his heart is in the work; then too, the audience should be glad that there is one railroad man at least who has courage left to face an audience. If the speech was too "churchy" he said that his only apology was that the Christian church has ever been a blessed heritage to him, and if perchance he touched his hearers' hearts he also hoped to touch their pocketbooks. Incidentally he paid a pretty complimentary to his former pastor, Rev. H. B. Mansell, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, who sat across the table from him.

Continuing he said: "Your Special State Secretary in writing to me said, need not tell you anything about Scottdale, as I understand your boy-hood days were spent in this locality." This suggestion gave me the theme on which I wish to speak, for it was 41 years ago the tenth day of this month that I first reached Westmoreland county to begin my railroad career.
Those were days of poverty and solitude, for I was wholly unprepared and uneducated for the great work I was about to enter. One thing I remember well, a fact that has given me inspiration all through my life, that my going forth at that time was to earn a home for my beloved mother, and later to provide her with many comforts. Men, were you ever homesick? Do you recall your first night among strangers? If so you will appreciate something of my distress when away out in a railroad camp in the mountains far from home. I must ask your pardon for this personal reference, my purpose being to impress upon your minds the truth of how one boy at least, and the experience was common to those days, struggling for an existence, without friends, without home, or even a friendly church where one could offer up his devotions. All this has been changed as the years have gone by. The boy or young man of today may go forth as did the speaker, but he scarcely passes from the influence of home as he is met by some loyal worker, conducted to a beautiful building, equipped with every modern device for mental, physical and spiritual training and placed under the influence of the Young Men's Christian Association.

In the fierce competition of modern industrial life men of wide experience, technical training and executive ability are needed but the rank and file to make possible the great modern progress must be found. Every railroad officer in the country is ever on the lookout for men of character, honesty, sobriety and integrity. The call of the railroad means much time away from home. Here it is that a clean bed, good food, a bath, and opportunity for healthful diversion is furnished by the Y. M. C. A. Thus the association is a blessing for it brings the men back to the work with clear brain and steady nerve, and good physical condition. No man can give good service unless he be physically fit, and no railroad company or other industry can achieve the highest success unless every officer and employe is giving it the best possible service.
"Extent of character are needed everywhere and nowhere more than in railroading. The railroads recognize the value of the Y. M. C. A. and the reports of 1910 show that the association is working upon railroads over eighty per cent. of the total mileage in the United States, Canada and Mexico, with a membership of approximately 84,000 railway employes, next numbered 231 associations in 174 buildings, valued at approximately $1,111,000. Since 1906 the New York Central railroad has taken a great interest in the Y. M. C. A. and in its federations are 39 associations, with 11,721 members and buildings valued at $700,000. Thereby is found great value in improving the service, resulting in safer and more careful operation of trains and consequent freedom from accident.

"The generous gift of $5,000 from one of your prominent citizens should be no invitation to others, and in all sincerity no worthier cause could engage your attention or claim your sympathy and aid than this building.
The boys of today are the men of tomorrow and upon the character and upbringing of our boys depend the quality of the citizens of the future.
No agency has done or can do more for the boys than the Y. M. C. A., and this project should command the loyal support of every citizen of the community. I feel sure that you will win out but you must win by the aid of every man, woman and child in this community, and not depend alone upon the subscriptions of a few generous-hearted men."

Mr. Yoho's speech was roundly cheered and then everyone arose and gave him the Chautauque salute. C.
P. Fought the State representative followed with some hopeful words and a motion was made that the town enter upon a systematic campaign to raise the $50,000, a motion that had several seconds and was enthusiastically voted in favor of.

The working teams are now starting out and will meet this evening for lunch at the Y. M. C. A. at 6:30 when they will discuss the campaign and its phases.

Circus is Showing Up at Mill Run

Mill Run is now over a circus. To-day is circus day in the Springfield township metropolis and there will be something doing. The show is one of those overland wagon shows that have become almost a thing of the past; a relic of former days. Improved transportation facilities put wagon shows out of the running, but they are yet a few of them gathering in the schoolhouse where the big shows do not touch.

The Conneltsville Garage on Monday supplied a mountainous with five gallons of gasoline. The Springfield township roads are so hilly that automobiles seldom traverse them, and gasoline is not stock in trade at the country stores. The approaching circus will need gasoline for illuminating purposes, the barrel that was ordered had not arrived up to Monday and an additional supply of five gallons was secured.

Among those who will attend from here are Conneltsman "Bill" McCormick, George Marietta and Dave Long, who say the wagon shows are the only "real thing" in the circus-business.

Thus as a pilgrim devout, who to ward Jerusalem journeyed, Taking three steps in advance, and one reluctantly backward, Dressed by importunate zeal, and withheld by the usage of custom; Slowly but steadily onward, speeding yet ever advancing, Journeyed this Puritan youth to the Holy Land of his longings, Dressed by the fervor of love, and withheld by responsible misgivings.

Meanwhile the stalwart Miles Stand-leigh was marching steadily northward,
 Winding through forest and swamp,
 And along the trend of the seashore,
 All day long, with hardly a halt,
 The fire of his anger Burning and crackling within, and the sulphurous odor of powder Seeming more sweet to his nostrils Than the breath of the forest.
 Silent and moody he went, and his heart revolved his discomfort; He who was used to success, and to easy victories always, Thus to be flouted, rejected, and despised, and to access by a maiden, Thus to be mocked and betrayed by the friend whom most he had trusted!
 Ah! 'twas too much to be borne, and he too frosted and chafed in his

"T'lost am to blame," he muttered, "for min was the foll'y."
What has a rash old soldier, grown grim and gray in the harness, Used to the camp and its ways, to do with the weeping of maidens?
Twas but a dream,—hot it pass,—lost it was,—and the many others!
What I thought was a flower, is only a weed, and is worthless; Out of my heart will I pluck it, and throw it away, and henceforward Be but a fighter of battle, a lover and a warrior no longer.
Thus he revolved in his mind his sorry defeat and discomfort.
While he was marching by day or lying at night in the forest, Looking up at the trees, and the constellations beyond them.

After a three days' march he came to an Indian encampment 'Titched on the edge of a meadow, between the sea and the forest; Women were working by the tents, and the warriors, horrid with war-paint, Seated about a fire, and smoking and talking together;
'Who, when they saw from afar the mean, sudden approach of the white men,
Saw a flash of the sun on breast-plate and sabre and musket, Straightway leaped to their feet, and two, from among them advancing, Came to parley with Standish, and offer him fur as a present; Friendship was in their eyes, but in their hearts there was hatred.
Brave of the tribe were these, and brothers gigantic in stature, Wise as Gollath of Gath, or the terrible Og, king of Bashan; One was Pecknaut named, and the other was called Watawamat.
Round their necks were suspended their knives in scabbards of worn buff.

Other arms had they none, for they were cunning and crafty. "Welcome, English!" they said,—these words they had learned from the traders.

Touching at times on the coast, to barter and chafter for pelicans.
The white man, who had been gann to parley with Standish, Through his guide and interpreter Hobomok, friend of the white man, Begging for blankets and knives, but kept by the muskets and powder concealed, with the plague, in his cellars,
Ready to be let loose, and destroy his brother, the red man, said, But what Standish refused, and said he would give them the Bible.
Suddenly changing their tone, they began to boast and to bluster.
Then Watawamatt advanced with a stride in front of the other, And, with a lofty demeanor, thus vauntingly spake to the Captain:
"Now Watawamatt can see, by the fiery eyes of the Captain, Angry he is in his breast; they bear the brow the brave Watawamatt is not afraid of the sight. He was not born of a woman, But on a mountain, at night, from an oak-tree rising by lightning, Forth he sprang at a bound, with all his weapons about him, Shouting, 'Who is that come to fight with the brave Watawamatt?'" Then he unsheathed his knife, and, whetting the blade on his left hand, Held it aloft and displayed a woman's hand on the handle.
Saying, with bitter expression and look of sinister meaning:
"I have another at home, with the face of a man on the handle; By and by they shall marry; and there will be plenty of children!" Then stood Peckabout forth, selfvaunting, insulting Miles Standish;
While with his fingers he tossed the knife that he bore in his bosom, Drawing it half from its sheath, and plunging it back, as he muttered:
"By and by it shall see; it shall see; ah, ah! but shall speak not!"
This is the mighty Captain the white man, who had been so deadly to him. "A little man; let him go and work with the women!"

Meanwhile Standish had noted the faces and figures of Indians Peeping and creeping about from bush to tree in the forest, Fearing to look for game, with arrows set on their bow-strings, Drawing the bows half-closed, and closer the net of their ambush. But undaunted he stood, and dissembled and treated them smoothly: So the old chronicles say, that were writ in the days of the fathers. But when he heard their defiance, the boast, the taunt, and the insult, All his blood boiled up, and he stood high and of Thurston do Standish. Dolled and beat in his heart, and sweated in the veins of his temples. Headlong he leaped on the boaster, and snatching his knife from its scabbard, Plunged it into his heart, and reeling backward, the savage Fell with his face to the sky, and a fiendlike fierceness upon it. Straight there arose from the forest the awful sound of the war-whoop, and like a storm of bonoos, the warriors rushed in a lumbering, swift and sudden and keen came a flight of feathered arrows. Then came a cloud of smoke, and out of the cloud came the lightning. Out of the thickets, thunder, and death unseen ran before it. Frightened the warriors fled for shelter in the thicket and in the thickets. Holy pursued and beset: but their scheme the brave Wawatamaw,

Tied not; he was dead. Unswerving and swift as a bullet Passed through his brain, and he fell with both hands clutching the greenward Smelling in death to hold back from his foe the land of his fathers.

There on the flowers of the meadow the warrior lay, and above them, glittering with folded arms, stood Hobomok, friend of the white man.
Gazing, at length he exclaimed to the stalwart Captain of Plymouth:
"Pocahontas braved very loud, of his courage, his strength and his virtue, Mocked the great Captain, and called him a little man; but I see now big enough have you been to lay him speechless before you!"

The coals of Ohio belong to the Appalachian province and most of the beds are correlated with those of Pennsylvania and West Virginia to the east and southeast. But although the bituminous and semibituminous coals of Pennsylvania and West Virginia are the best, the coals in the United States, and although those two States are the first and second in rank as coke producers, the coals seem to lose their coking qualities as the beds extend westward and a large part of the coke made in Ohio is made from coal brought from West Virginia to by-product retort ovens at Lima, Wyandott, and other places in Cleveland. On the other hand, some of the coal mined in Ohio is a good blast furnace fuel in the raw state and this obviates the necessity of coking. When used raw, however, this coal is usually mixed with coke.

Ohio ranks fourth among the States in coal production and only fourteenth in the manufacture of coke. In 1907, when the first installation of by-product ovens was put into operation, Ohio could lay claim to little importance as a producer of coke.

During 1910 the work of dismantling 80 Rotherberg ovens by the Cleveland Furnace Co. and constructing 100 modern ones was completed and the new ovens contributed nearly 20 per cent of the total output of the State. Nearly 40 per cent of the total output of the State came from the Ohio-Tinmouth mines at Hamilton. The 25 Rothbergovens left standing at Cleveland were not in operation in 1910. The average yield of coal in coke in the Rothbergovens was 72 per cent. In the 322 beehive ovens that constituted the remainder of the coke-producing facilities of Ohio the yield of coal in coke was but 64 per cent.

The total production of coke in Ohio in 1910 was 232,315 short tons, valued at $911,387. In quantity this was, with the exception of that for 1906, the lowest production in the history of the State. The value of the product in 1910 was exceeded in two earlier years, 1906 and 1906. Compared with 1909 the production in 1910 showed an increase of 59,694 short tons, or 25.8 per cent, in quantity, and of $228,832, or 25.5 per cent, in value. The average price per ton advanced from $3.07 in 1909 to $2.23 in 1910. As in Illinois, the higher value of the coke made in Ohio, as compared with that of the neighboring States of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, is due to the fact that a large part of the coal used comes from the Western Virginia mines and the transportation charges have been borne by the coal, the coke being made at or near the points of consumption.

These and other statistics of the production of coke are shown in the accompanying table, as gathered by Edward W. Parker, of the United States Geological Survey, and the advance chapter of "Mineral Resources of the United States, 1910."
